Bristol High Eleven Puts Up Fine Defensive Game

FINAL SCORE 13 TO 7

Vineland Was Ahead, 13-0, Until the Final Quarter

VINELAND, N. J., Sept. 21.—The defensive playing of Bristol High was outstanding here last night under the lights as the Vineland High School beat the Bunnies, 13-7, before 4,000 fans.

The Vineland team was ahead 13-0 until the final quarter when "Bernie" Stiles intercepted a pass on his 25 and raced 75 yards for the touchdown. "Sal" Accardi converted the extra point by a line smash.

Coach Harry McClister's boys brought the fans to their feet in the second quarter when a pass, Accardi to Moe Caucei, was converted into a double-lateral with Heath and Hamm filling in. The play netted 30 yards but was recalled because of a penalty.

The Vineland team scored its first touchdown in the second quarter, having had possession of the ball most of the first quarter. DiEmma scored the touchdown, going over from the 8-yard mark after a 40-yard pass had set up the play. Smith drop-kicked the extra point.

The next score for the Jersey team which proved to be the winning touchdown was registered in the third session when Caterina intercepted a pass deep in the Bristol territory. Three plays brought the ball to the 2 yard line where Moffa carried it over on a reverse from Caterina.

"Moe" Caucei and "Mike" Iannucci played good ball for the Bristol team.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Representative Speakman urged that Mr. Wallace, Senator Pepper and other "leftists" be read out of the Democratic party. Washington observers felt the Wallace resignations and the events preceding it had impaired Mr. Truman's influence and had shaken United States unity on foreign affairs.

In Paris, Mr. Truman's complete support for Secretary of State Byrnes was viewed as reinvigorating the position of this country in international affairs.

After the Italian Treaty Commission at the peace conference had rejected all amendments to the Big Four compromise agreement on Trieste and the Italo-Yugoslav border, Vice-Premier Kardelj of Yugoslavia said his nation's delegation "will not be bound by any decisions of this conference." Russia voted against all the amendments, including those urged by Yugoslavia.

The United Nations Security Council dropped charges that Greece threatened peace in the Balkans after Russian delegate Gromyko had vetoed an American proposal for an investigation of Greek frontier incidents. Prime Minister Tsaldaris of Greece urged an international zone between Greece and Bulgaria, with United Nations troops to guard the area, as the only way to safeguard Balkan peace.

RIBBONS AWARDED IN PUPILS' FLOWER SHOW

Eight Firsts, 24 Seconds, and Six Thirds; Parents Invited to Display

BATH STREET SCHOOL

Eight first prizes, 24 seconds, and six thirds—all in the form of ribbons—were awarded yesterday afternoon at the second annual flower show of Bath street school pupils. The display of flowers, for which ribbons were awarded for arrangement, took place in the main corridor on the first floor of the school house. Parents of children had been invited to see the display.

Miss Helen Fine and her committee were in charge of arrangements, and the judges included Miss Jean Schrader, Mrs. Russell Vandegrift, and Miss Ethel Zerbe.

There were a variety of type and size of containers, and the girls and boys showed talent in arranging the blooms. Several used tomatoes and peppers with unique results. One "tomato couple" had "hair" of a fine-bladed green plant, eyes and noses of buttons and ring reinforcements, and the little tomato woman a veil replete with red wool bow. Some peppers were complete with "faces," and with a lid cut out there was provided accommodations for flowers.

All types of fall flowers were included in the display.

Principal, Mrs. Edward J. Fleming, announces ribbon winners as follows:

First prizes (blue ribbons): Harold Loud, Dorothy Winslow, Henry K. Kleish, "Billy" Claus, Lois Vandegrift, James Elmer, Edgar Vandegrift, Alice Brannigan.

HOW DID IT LEAK?

Sometimes the source of a news story is almost as important as the story itself.

This is the case with the letter which Secretary of Commerce Wallace sent President Truman last July 23, demanding that the U. S. stop telling Stalin that Russia can't be permitted to grab everything she wants.

This letter, which is a long and detailed "brief" of the pro-Communist case for continued appeasement of Russia, is one of the most important documents ever revealed to the American public.

For one thing, it clearly shows that the "infiltration" of Communist doctrines and pro-Communist individuals had penetrated to President Truman's own cabinet. Wallace's dismissal does not change this fact.

For another, release of the document at the time it occurred represented almost as much of a victory for the Russians as would be the spying out of the secret of the atomic bomb.

At the moment when many other nations were beginning to fall in behind the demand of Secretary of State Byrnes that a "strong" Germany be re-established as a buffer state against Russia, this whole scheme was neatly knocked in the head by proof that the Truman Administration itself was divided on it.

Wallace himself, who had been put on the spot for a fragmentary and disjointed attack on the Byrnes plan, and who would not have dared try to elaborate his own case at the moment by any other means, benefitted to the extent that he got his entire argument before the American public with a fanfare of publicity.

BRISTOL MAN IS ACQUITTED AT COURT BY JURY

Walter Melnik Found Not Guilty of Stealing Tools At Plant

SHURTS IS ACQUITTED

Chester J. Shurts, of New Hope, Found Not Guilty of Serious Charge

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 21.—Charged with the theft of some tools from a tool box in a work room at the Bristol Processing Company on July 29 this year, Walter Melnik, of Bristol, went on trial before a jury in Judge Keller's court. He is charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Grover Keith, maintenance foreman at the plant, testified that he saw Melnik reaching into a tool box at the plant on the morning in question. The box, it was testified, was owned by Elwyn H. Achey, of Trenton, assistant foreman at the Bristol plant.

Another witness, Anthony Manzo, of Bristol, testified that he saw the defendant leaving the plant with some dirty clothes in a bundle that was fastened by an Army belt.

When the package was opened later a drill was found inside.

Melnik was acquitted by the jury. His attorney was John Leslie Killoyne, Esq., of Bristol.

Chester Joseph Shurts, 40, Mechanic street, New Hope, who has appeared in court here twice—was acquitted by a jury which deliberated more than one hour and a half on Wednesday.

Charged with assault and battery with intent to ravish and assault and battery, the New Hope defendant was given this bit of sage advice by Judge Calvin S. Boyer before leaving court.

"The jury has returned a verdict of not guilty and it is true that you are free," said Judge Boyer, "but did you ever hear of the adage, 'A pitcher may go to the well too often'?" This is the second time you have been in this court on the same charge. You were acquitted before. A word to the wise is sufficient."

Shurts, who was acquitted of a charge of assault and battery, alleged to have been committed on a nine-year-old girl, was directed by a jury on May 28 to pay one-half of the costs of prosecution. The jury also directed that the small girl's parents pay the other half of the costs of prosecution, but Judge Harold G. Knight, who presided over the trial, asked that the U. S. petition Court to have that portion of the verdict set aside.

"If prohibition ever comes back it will be people like you who will bring it back; for it is men like you who have no respect for the law," commented Judge Calvin S. Boyer in criminal court.

His remarks were directed to defendants who had pleaded guilty to violation of the liquor laws at the Meadow Inn, near Dublin, operated by Lewis Davis, of East Court street, Doylestown.

"It will not be the ministers and other decent and law-abiding people who cause prohibition to return, it's your type," Judge Boyer added.

Pleading guilty to a large number of violations, Davis was spared a prison sentence because the law provides a fine for the first offense.

PARADE POSTPONED UNTIL NEXT SATURDAY

Rain Makes It Necessary To Call Off Affair of Bristol Chamber of Commerce

COMMITTEE DECREES

The "Pennsylvania Week" parade scheduled to be held here this afternoon has been postponed until next Saturday, September 28th. This announcement was made this morning after C. S. Wetherill, Jr., chairman of the committee, had conferred with the members of the committee and the weather man.

The baseball game scheduled for Leedom's field between St. Ann's team and Edgely A. C., has also been postponed until next Saturday afternoon following the parade.

The rain which started during the night is likely to "continue all day" the Weather Bureau in Philadelphia told Mr. Wetherill in a telephone conversation. It was then that it was definitely decided to postpone the parade until next Saturday.

A number of floats were being built yesterday and last night and just where these can be stored will be a problem. Some of them are in garages which are used during the week and consequently the floats will have to be moved out of the way.

Efforts were being made this morning to have a sound truck tour the borough to advise the residents that the parade had been postponed.

GIFTS TO SPONSORS

The Senate war investigating committee now has the names of more than 5,000 women who smashed bottles of champagne on the bows of American ships in wartime launching ceremonies and who received gifts from the builders for sponsoring these vessels. It is now up to the committee to decide what to do about this information.

According to a committee spokesman, the committee asked the Maritime Commission to compile this list because it had "received complaints that wives and female relatives of officials in the Maritime Commission were frequently named as sponsors and, in some cases, that the same individual had acted as sponsor for more than one vessel."

The list provides ample basis for these complaints, even though its length indicates that the honor of sponsoring a ship was not confined to a few.

For example, commission officials whose wives were on the list bore such titles as general counsel, director of operations, director of the division of regulations, and director of the division of finance. Moreover, Miss Barbara Vickery, daughter of the late Vice Admiral Vickery, former vice-chairman of the commission, launched five vessels and received gifts valued at $47,300.55. Other members of Admiral Vickery's family also served as sponsors.

But it is only fair to say that the ritual of launching a ship goes back into dim antiquity and that the customs surrounding the ceremony are time-hallowed. But to say that the expenses involved came out of the builders' profits, when the ships were built for the government and paid for by the taxpayers, is to be extremely naive. The gifts were needlessly lavish and some who received them received too many. Certainly the men who constructed the ships would have been forced to pay income tax on the amounts involved if the shipbuilding companies had increased their stipends from $500 to $5,000, regardless of the form in which the extra remuneration was presented.

HE'LL STAY A WHILE

Because he is disgusted with postwar conditions, Robert Smith, a 23-year-old veteran of the Merchant Marine, is on his way to the famed South Sea island of Tahiti, sailing alone in an 18-foot sloop. He says he's going to stay there until the world settles down.

If Smith had invited all the people who share his views to accompany him, his vessel would be swamped by would-be passengers. He'd need a transport or two to accommodate them. As it is, judging by the trend of news from various parts of the world, Smith had better plan his Tahitian residence on a fairly long-term basis. If he waits until the world settles down, he's headed for quite a stay.

Ten years from now 10-pound missiles from here will be hitting the moon, scientists say. Well, it can't protest that it wasn't warned.

HOW DID IT LEAK?

Somebody pulled the trigger. Obviously, it had to be somebody on the inside—somebody out of the few who knew of the existence of this secret, "war-baby" letter.

Presumably, it was somebody who had the political interests of Russia at heart, since Stalin was the one who stood to gain most by the disclosure. The tipster may or may not have been friendly with Wallace, since the good service done Wallace in the nature of publicity may be more than outweighed by the harm done him in the very circles where he has been strongest—the Left-Wing, pro-Communist segment of the Democratic Party.

A nationally known columnist, Drew Pearson, long a stormy petrel of Washington reporting, was the reporter who first got his hands on the letter.

It is probably the biggest "scoop" yet of this sensationalist among newspapermen—the man who, for example, first revealed the Patton "soldier-slapping" episode.

Pearson, understandably enough, stands firm on the reporter's right to protect the sources of his news stories.

He has declined to tell who gave him the letter, and has said only that it did not come from Wallace's department. This he said when threatening to sue Wallace for libel for saying that he has "filched" it from the Department of Commerce files.

According to the news accounts from Washington, when the letter was sent to the President, marked "Top Secret", six copies were made for the information of interested advisors. Who these lucky six were is not revealed. Some of them are obvious. One, for example, would be in the Department of State.

The Department of State has long been under fire for having on its staff not merely pro-Communists, but active and known Communists. In the absence of other information, the likeliest conjecture is that Secretary Byrnes was knifed in the back from somewhere inside his own department—by one of the pro-Communists he has been promising for so long to purge.

This would not be the first time such a conjecture appeared the most probable explanation for mysterious "leaks" greatly embarrassing to him.

For instance, when Byrnes first decided to demand his "strong Germany" program, he notified the British foreign office of his proposal in communications so heavily shrouded by "secrecy" that Secretary Bevin said later he was fearful of discussing them with key figures in the British government. When Byrnes made his plea, Bevin, although in favor of the idea, was therefore not in a position to commit his government in its behalf.

But the Russian government had received advance information on the suggestion, in such authoritative form that it had all its "bureaus" in readiness to try to knock the plan out in the first round. Since this was a proposal known only in the White House and the Department of State, obviously the leak to Russia occurred in one or the other of those two places.

It is a matter of the most grave concern to the American people for them to realize that their national government is dotted with obscure fifth-columnists ready and willing to dynamite American unity from the inside.

Considering that we are in an unfriendly world, with a Third World War accepted by many as inevitable, nothing could be more dangerous than to tolerate those who may prove to be actual traitors to the country at the nerve centers of our government.

No Soap

—by—

SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Every housewife haunts the stores in search of soap. She stands in line. She is pushed around, humiliated, worn out.

Will the situation get better or worse? It will get worse. It is a good illustration of what happens when war, bureaucrats and pressure groups run up a free market economy. Under a free market and peace, soap was on the shelf. Now it will stay there a long time.

The meat famine means still less soap. When meat is wasted in black market slaughter barns, the soap fats are wasted too. When government puts a ceiling on meat sold by the pound, more fat leaves the butcher shops where it was formerly trimmed and saved. The housewife can not be as efficient a fat gatherer as the butcher and legitimate packing house, where formerly everything was "saved but the squeal."

Miss Mae Garr has returned to her home here after spending several days in New London, Conn. Miss Garr accompanied her niece, Miss "Betty" Wisner, of Beaver, to New London where Miss Wisner has enrolled as a student at Connecticut College. Nevertheless, the housewife did a magnificent job in the fat salvage campaign. At the peak of the effort in 1945, the tallow and grease which she saved accounted for 13% of the nation's soap. In terms of soap, it was equivalent to a solid field of soy beans, three quarters of a mile wide from New York to Arizona! It was equal to 6 cakes of toilet soap per year for every man, woman and child.

There was a remarkable farm operation conducted in the American kitchen! Now, with the war over, the salvage is falling off. The ending of red points without increasing the four cents payment for fats has reduced the reward for the housewife's effort. Nevertheless, the salvage should be continued.

Some people think that government can make waste run up-stream, that it can violate the law of supply and demand without penalty; that a controlled economy can serve the people better than a free market. Well, we shall learn as the days go by. Price ceilings rolled back on meat have reduced slaughtering to a tiny fraction of normal. So, no soap. The stock of fats and oils on hand for soap making are at the lowest point in 20 years.

Price ceilings have also decreased soy bean and flaxseed acreage and hog population from which so much of our animal and vegetable fats have come.

The disruption and destruction of war has reduced the world's supply of fats. The Japs cut off enormous supplies of vegetable oils from Asia. Imports should increase but it will be a slow process with civil war and riots raging in China and India. A 3-cent processing tax on coconut oil—the equivalent of a tariff—also limits imports.

Our bureaucrats have rationed our manufacturers of soap for household use to 75% of the 1940-1941 figures. Meantime, our population has increased by five millions. Our 15,000,000 young people in the services are getting married and having babies. Yet soap production, and soap prices stand still.

So, the most washed nation in the world is going to hunt soap for a long time to come. We formerly used 25 pounds of soap per person per year. This compares with 10 pounds in Italy, 7 pounds in Japan, 2 ounces a year per person in China; and in Russia, who knows? You can't penetrate the "Iron Curtain." Stalin doesn't want Americans to know how unwashed Russians are, under his controlled economy; and he wants still less that his people know how clean the Western world is in comparison.

However, we lend-leased to grateful Joe 933,450 tons of fat, which would make 7,467,500,000 cakes of soap.

So, no soap!

Gladys Reed Bauer is Wed To Francis P. McIlvaine

As the notes of a bridal march were played by Miss Katherine Keating, Mrs. Gladys Reed Bauer, of Andalusia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Reed, of Bristol Road, Bensalem Township, made her way to the altar of St. Mark's R. C. Church at 10 o'clock this morning to take the vows which united her in marriage to Mr. Francis Phillips McIlvaine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal J. McIlvaine, of Mulberry street.

The Rev. Joseph E. Lynn, cousin of the groom, officiated. Mrs. Veronica Koska and Miss Madeline Koska, of Bristol, sang "Ich-Lieber-Dicht," "The Rosary," "Ave Maria" and "Oh Lord I Am Not Worthy."

The bride was attractively costumed in blue lace, a blue lace mantilla, and she carried a white orchid resting on a white prayer book.

Miss Nancy Lehmkuhl, of Melrose Park, as maid of honor, was attired in pink champagne satin with a halo of American beauty roses. She carried a nosegay of the same type roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Evelyn Hentchel, of Cornwells Heights, was dressed like the matron of honor.

Mr. Paul W. McIlvaine was best man for his brother. The ushers were Mr. Robert H. Reed, Jr., Bensalem Township, brother of the bride; Mr. David Hetherington and Mr. Joseph Foster of Bristol.

The bride's mother chose a moss green coat suit with black accessories and a corsage of white gladioli and pink roses. The groom's mother selected a grey pin-stripe coat suit with black accessories, and a corsage like that of the bride's mother.

After a wedding breakfast at the Stacy-Trent Hotel, Trenton, N. J., the newlyweds will leave by airplane for Canada. Upon their return they will reside in Bristol. The bride is a graduate of Bensalem Township high school and of the Temple University, Philadelphia. She is employed at the Ite Circuit Breaker Co., Phila. ### Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Arthur D. Sargis
Pastor
Eddington Presbyterian Church

Dear Father, "safely through another week Thou has brought us on our way" and for this growth in grace we give Thee sincere and genuine thanks. Remind us, during these days, that "where there is no vision the people perish" and where there is no obedience the people likewise perish. May we prepare, today, for the honoring of Thee on the morrow—the Christian Sabbath. May the spirit of worship, through adoration, enter mightily into the hearts of Thy people. May the servants of the Most High God lift up their voices with strength and say unto the cities of the world, "Behold your God." May all the people respond, "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord" even Jesus Christ our Lord. Hear our prayer for we pray in Jesus' Name. Amen.

PETERMAN WILL BE BACK IN RACES AT AQUADROME

Expects To Give Williams Plenty of Trouble At Eddington

EACH HAS WON TWICE

Edwards To Be at Helm of New Mount This Week

EDDINGTON, Sept. 21—(H) Peterman, Bronx, N. Y., outboard race driver whose Aquadrome winning streak was cut short last week when he was unable to compete at the local waterway, will be back in the line-up tomorrow and expects to give Doc Williams, Class 1 champion, plenty of trouble. Peterman's boat, a three-point displacement job, was totally destroyed when he was involved in a four-boat crack-up at Baltimore, Md., recently. However, he has made repairs to his engine and will drive his Jacoby-built hull at the Drome tomorrow.

Newcomer Ed VanHouten, Kearney, N. J., Jack Schiedel, Oreland, and Hank Murata, Clifton, N. J., will drive. Other class 1 entries include Byron Shannon, Audubon, N. J., Billy Watkins, Kensington, Pa., Ellsworth Downe, Cranford, N. J., and Bill Gardner, Far Rockaway, N. Y.

Walter "Doc" Edwards, Kensington, Class 2, will be at the helm of a new mount this week. His familiar red-decked P-56 which crashed into a mount driven by his son in the second Class 2 qualifying heat last Sunday, is too badly damaged to permit repairs during the balance of the racing season. Last Sunday was Edwards, Jr.'s first appearance on the dangerous Aquadrome 1/4-mile oval. Young Edwards, riding in second spot, struck the lead boat driven by Dean Worcester. Doc Edwards, riding in fifth position, was boxed in between the third and fourth boats and was unable to avoid striking the boat driven by his son, which was stalled on the East turn. Neither Edwards was injured in the crash, but the entire forward section of Edwards, Sr.'s boat was crushed in. Sunday, Edwards, Sr., will drive a new Schmutz-designed hull, similar in design to his damaged racer.

Ray Shilling, Kensington, missing from the feature starters the last two weeks, will be back in the line-up as will Buffalo, N. Y., driver, Bob McKnight.

Jim Baden, last week's feature winner and a top favorite with the crowd, will move in from Washington, D. C., with Poison. Other Class 2 entrants are Art Saunders, New Cumberland; Byron Shannon, Audubon, N. J.; Tom Cundy, Westville, N. J.; Dean Worcester, Silver Spring, Md.; Dutch Sollday, Middlesex, N. J.; Leo Griffin, Reading, Pa.; John Zack, Perth Amboy, N. J.; Ray Bowers, Sea Bright, N. J., and Joe Stager, Flushing, N. Y.

In addition to three scheduled heats for both Class 1 and 2, a special match race will be held for drivers of the sixteen-horsepowered 55 m.p.h. Class B boats.

Time trials at the Aquadrome are scheduled for one p. m., with the first of the scheduled seven events slated for three p. m.

EXPECT HUGE CROWD AT GAME TOMORROW

The largest crowd to ever witness a baseball game here in years is expected at the Maple Beach field tomorrow afternoon where the St. Ann's team will clash with the Hibernians in the fifth and deciding game of the Bristol Suburban League playoffs.

The starting time of the fracas has been advanced to 2:15 p. m. This action was taken so that the game will be finished in time for the St. Ann's players to attend the banquet given in honor of the club's veterans.

Managers and officials of the Suburban League will be in charge of the proceeds and fans are requested to be generous in their donations because the receipts of the game will help those teams failing to realize any money on baseball this season. The entire proceeds will be put into the treasury and divided among the ten teams.

At the present time, the playoff series is tied at two each. The Hibernians were awarded the first game on a forfeit. St. Ann's won the next two and last week the Hibos won to deadlock the series.

St. Ann's won the regular season championship by winning 35 of its 39 games. The Hibernians finished second during the course of the regular season. In the semi-finals of the Shaughnessy system playoffs, St. Ann's eliminated the third-place Edgely team while the Hibos conquered Bristol Processing.

The opposing hurlers for the tilt will most likely be "Danny" Keegan for St. Ann's, and Joe Berry for the Hibos.

Fans are again reminded to refrain from parking or standing in left field. In the last game at Maple Beach, "Camel" Breslin had a home run taken away from him because a felled ball went into the crowd.

Enforcement Agent Harry F. Leppley, of the Pennsylvania State Liquor Control Board, the only Commonwealth witness, read off pages of violations to Judge Boyer, charging four defendants including the boss, Davis.

Fines that reach a total of $1300 were imposed on the four. Davis himself was fined on four bills for a total of $800, and upon failure to pay must serve a total of eight months in the Bucks County Prison.

Elwood Antonelli, of Doylestown, who worked as a bartender at the Meadow Inn for a short time, until it was raided, was fined on two bills for a total of $200 and costs or two months in the County Prison.

William Peca, of Doylestown, who helped out as a bartender at the Inn, received a similar fine of $200 and costs or two months in prison.

Miss Helen Gerczya, 27, of Doylestown, a waitress at the Meadow Inn, who told Judge Boyer that she realized that the law was being violated, but that she was carrying out the orders of her boss, was fined $100 and costs or one month in the county prison.

The $1300 in fines and the costs amounting to $322.20 were paid by Davis after the hearing yesterday, a total bill of $1622.

SCHNEIDER PUTS ON ONE-MAN SHOW IN LANGHORNE GAME

Langhorne Opens Season With 24 to 0 Victory Over Fallsington

2500 FANS AT GAME

Turner, of The Falls Team, Ripped Off Several Nice Gains

LANGHORNE, Sept. 21—Captain "Inky" Schneider put on a one-man show last night under the lights at Playwicky field as Langhorne High opened its season with a 24-0 victory over Fallsington before 2,500 fans.

Schneider scored two of the Redskins' touchdowns and paved the way for the other pair by his winging of passes. Defensively, he put on a fine performance in stopping many Fallsington plays and also intercepting two passes. When Langhorne had their backs to the goal-posts, it was Schneider's toe which got off boots of about 50 yards to keep them from danger.

In first downs, Langhorne had two more than the Falcons, the Redskins chalking up ten. However, the winners made most of their first downs via its strong aerial attack while Fallsington gained the most ground in the running of the ball and were aided by Langhorne penalties.

George Turner, fleet-footed back of the Falls Township team, he ripped off several nice gains and was the spark-plug of the drive in the final period when the Millermen reached the nine-yard line of the Langhorne team.

Between halves, the drum and bugle Cadet Corps of the Jesse W. Soby Post, American Legion, provided drills and music.
